Seda Saar is a British educated artist and architectural designer who moved to the US after completion of her studies at London Metropolitan University, UK. Following decades of architectural design work as an award winning themed entertainment designer for major Hollywood studios, Saar has been recording her own experience of the built environment in this megacity of Los Angeles as inspired by the modernist pioneer architects, observing the ecology of the beaches, flatlands, and foothills via the freeways. Her explorations include paintings, drawings and mixed media works employing geometries and projection lines normally found on spatial representation. A mix of fantasy and reality, her work brings a fresh perspective of what millions of Angelenos experience daily as they move about in their cars.
